Upon comparing my last six months bill statement, it was noticed that a significant rise in the amount due compared to previous months (Copy Enclosed). I have reviewed my household's energy consumption habits and can confirm that there have been no substantial changes in our usage pattern that could justify such an increase.

I would appreciate if you could investigate whether there have been any errors in meter readings or billing calculations or any fault in electric meter that could have resulted in an inaccurate assessment of my electricity usage.

However, the sudden surge in the bill amount is concerning and requires immediate attention to resolve the issue. As I am a pensioner I will not be able to pay this amount which is not used by me. I trust that you will address this matter promptly and provide me with a satisfactory explanation or adjustment to my bill.
